RAILWAY WILL OPEN UP UNTOUCHED TERRITORY

Plans are Completed for New Line From Point On C. & O. to Keyser, West Virginia—Virgin Counties Will Be Developed.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] MONTEREY, VA., June 23.—Information comes from an authoritative source that plans for the construction of another important Virginia railroad are rapidly maturing, and the road is assured. The proposed line will run from a point on the Chesapeake and Ohio, a distance of 163 miles. Leaving the Chesapeake and Ohio, the road will traverse the beautiful and fertile valleys of Jackson's River and South Branch. The work done so far has been in a quiet way, yet a satisfactory preliminary survey has been made, all material points and facts obtained, plans laid and the enterprise positively launched.

The counties of Bath and Highland, in Virginia, will be crossed, as will also Pendleton, Grant and Hardy, in West Virginia. The grade obtainable is a good one at no point exceeding 1 per cent. Rights of way have been secured along much of the route through Bath and Highland and in sections of Pendleton county. The road is to be of standard gauge, strongly built, having heavy steel rails and complete, modern equipment. The cost of construction is placed at $25,000 per mile, or an aggregate of approximately $7,000,000.

The information carries with it the assurance that no monetary consideration, in the form of subscription or bequest, or asked of any of the counties through which the road goes; that the enterprise has been fully and amply financed, having behind it a strong syndicate of New York capitalists, and their purpose is to hasten preliminary work, such as obtaining leases, securing rights of way, and push the work of construction as rapidly as possible, consistent with reason and the magnitude of the undertaking.

The people of the undeveloped section have frequently been enthused over railroad prospects, but in every former instance the hope and enthusiasm were born of speculation and surmise. The present outlook is regarded as different, light and certain, because the announcement is authentic and unqualified, names and important details being withheld for reasons satisfactory and prudent.

The road, it is said, will be rich in mineral wealth, the extent and value of which is perhaps better known to iron-workers than to the inexperienced mountaineers along the line. Three of the counties crossed have no mines, and no outlet for passengers or the products of the country. In each of the counties mentioned are vast, untouched timber sections. From the splendid grass lands of these mountain valleys and ranges hundreds of head of cattle and sheep are shipped each season, all of which gives the road a business of many different kinds. Aside from its importance as a direct connecting link between the two great trunk lines east and west, the time it leaves the Chesapeake and Ohio, whether at Hot Springs, Millboro or Clifton Forge, a fine and ample water power is found, and as a scenic route, it will have rare attractions for the tourist.

We think the opening up of one bank, rock and marble quarries, brick clay deposits, etc., is important, what the enterprise signifies as a means of ingress and egress to travelers, health and pleasure seekers, is not of secondary importance.
